Monitoring the Observance of Human Rights

A) Domestic Developments: Following the previous activities, during the mentioned period, IHRC has taken into its consideration the developments in Iran on a daily basis in 16 priority sections; such as the structural developments related to the scope of democracy, freedom of expression and belief, the rights of women, the rights of the child, the rights of persons with disabilities, the rights of workers, right to health, minorities rights, fair trial, the rights of prisoners, migrants rights and etc.; and it has day-by-day recorded and registered those news and developments, which are about 150 pages per day, in a way that in the end of each month, there has been presented a detailed report of the successes and failures in thousands pages, to people's access. The whole data related to the Monitoring Sections has been recorded by computers, offered to the interested people and all human rights activists, in the IHRC website for its database in Farsi. Among monitoring developments, each case requiring urgent action to prevent violation of human rights or to affect the existing process, has been referred to the IHRC Legal Affairs & Follow-up Unit so as for an appropriate action to be taken. Also, in some of the developments, it has been deemed necessary that an independent analytical report be prepared and this has been done and applied use has been made from the related reports. The IHRC monitoring comprehensive databases, at the present moment is considered indeed and in practice one of the most complete databases of Iranian human rights developments being used by all across the country. It is worth mentioning that the possibility of sending messages through website and 24 hour hotlines has created a suitable opportunity for the public to inform the Commission from their monitoring reports and activities.
